SOLDIERS WANT PAPERS

London.—"More home newspapers, is the constant appeal from the American soldiers in the camps and hospitals in Great Britain," says an American Red Cross report made public here.

The American Red Cross library committee in London is now furnishing reading matter for 25,000 men weekly, the report states, but the supply of home newspapers is not equal to one-tenth of the demand for them.

"Regarding books," says the report, "the men ask principally for fiction, and light fiction at that, but the American magazines and newspapers give far greater satisfaction than do books."

OFFICER'S REPLY

Mrs. Bosworth put a note in a sweater she had knitted for the Special Aid and asked the one receiving it to let her know about it, and in reply received the following reply:

My dear Mrs. Bosworth:
Ever since I was fortunate enough to receive the wonderful sweater that you made I have been trying to find time to write and thank you. It is so heavy and warm and fits perfectly. I wore it continually while doing coast patrol work and now I am testing planes at the factories and I get so much comfort out of it. Again let me thank you from the bottom of my heart.

Sincerely yours,
LT. W. A. BOGGS,
Statler Hotel, Detroit.

DRIVE FOR 101ST COMFORT FUND

SEPT. 7TH, 1918

The drive in Hull started at 6 a. m. all the railroad stations, wharves, and important corners where business men would pass being covered at that time. Before 7:30 nearly 100 girls with 3,000 daisies were covering the town and before 9 o'clock nearly every section had telephoned headquarters that they were all sold out. A telephone to the headquarters in Boston brought 5,000 daisy cards on the 10:30 boat. The chairman, Mrs. John E. Campbell, and captain Mrs. E. Learned met the boat at Pemberton and spread the cards among the various lieutenants that the girls might begin the house to house canvass. At 12 o'clock the bells at Hull Village and Nantasket were rung for 15 minutes. Girls were shown in the Bay Side and Apollo Theatres during the week announcing the drive and on Saturday evening Mr. Murphy and Mr. Anastas gave permission for a speaker in the theatres after which a group of girls passed through the audience and took up a collection. The same permission was granted by Mr. Dodge at Pemberton Inn; and at 7:30 during the banquet of the insurance men at the Villa Napoli, Mrs. Murray was granted permission by Mr. DeWitt to send her girls among the diners. The Rev. Frank Kingdom was the speaker at Pemberton Inn and the Bayside Theatre, and at the Apollo the Rev. Mr. Blackney Brantree spoke, introduced by Mr. Clarence V. Nickerson of Hull. By 10:30 the captains had collected all the boxes from the lieutenants and turned them in at headquarters where the kindness of Chief Reynolds was shown to the girls. The girls were placed in the police car and taken to Hingham under escort of Chief Reynolds, Patrolman Parent and Mrs. Campbell where they placed in care of the Hingham Trust Co. till Monday when the money was counted and a check sent to the 101st headquarters. The amount collected was $1,548.14.

This amount is exceeding gratifying to all and especially to Mrs. Campbell, who was told that she would be unable to raise anything after Labor Day as so many people went home. Those having charge of and working in "the Drive" are heartily congratulated upon its splendid success. As Chief Reynolds so aptly remarked, "the Drive was well conducted and the ladies deserve credit for their fine appearance and nice manners." So you see it was successful in every way.

Headquarters for Hull were established at the Damon School where the chairman, Mrs. J. E. Campbell and her assistant, Mrs. H. H. Burr, were on duty from 7 a. m. till 10:30 p. m. Mrs. Campbell was in charge of the day. Miss Edna Davis being stationed there to act as orderly to take messages, Miss Dorothy trap, assisting. The captains were Mrs. Frank Learned, Mrs. Bowen Tufts.

DREAMWOLD

The Farm of Thomas W. Lawson Co.

Scituate, Mass., Sept. 7, 1918.
Mrs. E. J. Srovich, Editor,
65 Austin street, Cambridge, Mass.
My dear Mrs. Srovich:

In the Sentinel of August 30th there is an article by you in which you refer to a recent visit to Dreamwold and the fact that we were closing the place up preparatory to the Government taking it over October 1, 1918.

I haven't the slightest idea where your information was obtained, but I do wish to state most emphatically that you were not correctly informed. As far as we know, the Government has no intention whatever of taking Dreamwold over at this time, although I have no doubt but what Mr. Lawson in his usual public spirit would co-operate most fully with the Government in what it is advisable to take Dreamwold over for the period of the war.

In your article you speak of the passing of "the old order." If reducing expense by the elimination of expensive Show Stables and Kennels is to be considered as such, we are very proud to have done so. Last November, when it was impossible to obtain, we in keeping with the spirit of the times, closed up our Show Stables and reduced to a very material extent our kennels as we felt that such action was the only thing our blooded Americans could do. And we are happy to know that our example has been followed by the majority of large horse and dog breeders throughout the country. The men formerly employed in our Show Stables are now devoting their time to assisting with the farm work at Dreamwold and our Kennel Manager and assistants are putting in fifteen hours a day raising poultry and rabbits for food purposes.

A fact which you have probably entirely overlooked is that when the United States entered the war Mr. Lawson offered Dreamwold and the services of himself, family and employees to the State or Government for an immense sum and preserving what we give the understanding that he would not accept any payment therefor. When, owing to red tape, his offer was not accepted, he immediately gave instructions that every available acre at Dreamwold was to be planted to win the war. Last season we produced more than 4,000 bushels of potatoes, 500 bushels of beans, 1,500 bushels of onions, 100 tons of cabbage and other vegetables in proportion. This year we are doing considerably more. Instead of the laborers being few, they are many, but fortunately, we feel for the country at large, they are not in livery and on parade where you would see them when they were here, but they are clean in clothing, putting in 10 hours a day a full stomach for at least a portion of the boys on their way to Berlin. If you will look me up the next time you are down this way I will tell you more fully of some of the things we are doing and intend to do at Dreamwold.

Very sincerely yours,
W. A. BURTON,
Manager.

Editor's note.—It gives me great pleasure to let the above letter which gives to the public the truth about Dreamwold. I feel that it is a very modest statement of the work that being done, and I am glad I blundered because of this reply from Mr. Burton. One thing at least in our article was correct. We called Mr. Lawson, Patriot, and that he is.

In Quest of Beauty.
Professional beauties often have novel methods of improving and preserving their good looks. One beautiful actress, for instance, whose neck and shoulders were painfully scraggy, secured the desired roundness by rubbing the offending parts with cod-liver oil. Fifteen minutes daily the lady's skin absorbed the oil under the persistent massage. After which some peculiar exercises, calculated to bring the muscles of throat and chest into play, were regularly sustained. A famous doctor observed that cod-liver oil feeds the flesh when externally applied, and recommends his meager patients to test this formula. Many ladies learn stage dancing because the rapid movements of feet and body lighten the complexion. It is said that half an hour's daily practice—once the steps have been acquired—will, in six months' time, effect a change in the mottled skin; while the figure and carriage improve wonderfully.

Easy to figure the Profits

Where in Western Canada you can buy at from $15 to $20 per acre good farm land that will raise 20 to 45 bushels to the acre of 52 wheat—its easy to figure the profits. Many Western Canadian farmers (across of them from the U. S.) have paid for their land from a single crop. Such an opportunity for 100% profit on labor and investment is worth investigation.

POULTRY FACTS

GOOD HANDLING SAVES EGGS

Big Loss Can Be Prevented If Producer and Country Merchant Take Precautions.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Not long ago four men worked half a day grading "current receipts" of eggs as they were received at a city market. They canded out one hundred dollars worth of rots, spots, and incubated eggs. This loss could so easily have been prevented if only the producer and the country merchant had handled the eggs promptly.

The hen lays a fresh egg; the consumer demands a fresh egg. Eggs are a highly perishable product, and gradually deteriorate with age. Heat is their enemy; cold is their friend. The shorter the time and the more direct their route from nest to packing house, the smaller the opportunity for loss.

The proper handling of eggs is not a one-man job. Many people are concerned in it. Their interests are common, and mutual understanding and co-operation between them benefit all alike.

The farmer's part in the general scheme of good marketing is to bring good eggs to market. To accomplish this, he should market his eggs frequently, not let them accumulate.

The dealer's job is to keep the eggs good. His slogan should be "ship promptly and properly." The sooner an egg is put under refrigeration and started for the market, the better its quality when it reaches its final destination, and the higher its value.

KEEPING CHICKENS IN TOWN

One of Best Ways for Loyal American to Help Win War Is to Raise Hens in Back Yard.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Every true American is asking, "How can I best do my part to help win the war?" One of the means to this end is to set the back yard to work. Those who have suitable land are cultivating vegetable gardens to help increase the food supply. There are, however, many back yards not suitable for the making of a garden which may be profitably utilized for back yard poultry keeping. In every household, no matter how economical the housewife, there is a certain amount of table scraps and kitchen waste which has feeding value, but which, if not fed, finds its way into the garbage pail. Poultry is the only class of domestic animals which can be fed on this waste.

Right where it is produced in the city, into wholesome and nutritious food in the form of eggs and poultry meat. A small number of chickens can be kept in almost any back yard. If poultry houses are not available, hens can be housed at small expense in plano boxes or other large packing cases. Their eggs should make a substantial addition to the family food supply. Each hen in her pullet year should produce ten dozen eggs. The average size of the back yard flock should be at least ten hens. Thus each flock would produce in a year 100 dozen eggs, which at the conservative value of 25 cents a dozen would be worth $25. By keeping a back yard poultry flock the family would not only help in reducing the cost of living, but would have eggs of a quality and freshness which are often difficult to obtain.

Poultry keeping, although a comparatively simple undertaking, will be successful in direct proportion to the study and labor which are expended upon it. There is an abundance of good material on the subject, but "Back Yard Poultry Keeping" (Farmers' Bulletin 890), a recent publication of the United States department of agriculture, contains all the general directions needed to make a start. It tells how to overcome the objections to keeping poultry in the city, what kinds of fowls to keep, the size of the flock computed according to the size of the back yard, gives definite instructions as to the best kinds of chicken houses to build, with bill of materials for same, directions as to feeding the fowls, hatching and raising chicks, prevention of diseases and pests, and many other matters essential to the success of the undertaking. Another helpful bulletin of a general character is "Hints to Poultry Raisers" (Farmers' Bulletin 928). This gives a great deal of useful and authoritative information within a very small compass.

Betty Takes a Hand

By Miss Frances M. Waseung

(Copyright, 1918, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"I'm back!"

A curly red head popped around the corner, and a very startled young man jumped to his feet. A whirlwind of fluffy blue was on its way toward him. "Oh, I say," he was beginning, when he caught a glimpse of dancing blue eyes and bewitching dimples. "Why, it's Betty! Little Betty grown up!" he said with a ludicrous expression of laughter and dismay on his face.

"Grown up, indeed! And how old do you think you are yourself, granpa?" she added with a wicked little chuckle. "Jove, how time flies." He was thinking to himself what a pretty little thing she was getting to be. "How did you like school, Betty? Race me to the house and tell me about it. One, two, three—"

"No, sir; I'm a young lady now, you know. My, how the 'gallery' would stare if I were to come tearing across the beach. Ask Cynthia," she would say, watching him out of the corner of her eye.

Dick's jaw hardened just a little.

"Can't," he said shortly. "Why not?" She was looking away from him to hide the dimples that insisted on showing.

"She promised me yesterday she would go for a row with me this morning, but it seems she had made a previous engagement with that Thomson, and so she backed out and went riding in his roadster."

"No, she didn't," replied Betty, nonchalantly. "I heard them planning it out last night when he called—here Dick's brown gown blacker—and she said she'd tell you—"

"Betty!" Dick's voice was stern. "Please don't tell me tales out of school. If your sister wants to go motor with him, that's her affair. But I think that you misunderstand her. I am sure that she is too honorable for that." And he walked off, with disappointment stamped on every inch of his broad back.

Betty, watching him, sighed a little and then said to herself: "If only he wasn't so silly about her. It would be so much easier to make him see. She doesn't care a snap about him, and I know it. Oh, well—"

On the way she picked herself just a little to make herself cry. Oh, but she was wise. It didn't hurt much, so she tried it again. By the time she had reached him she had managed to squeeze a few sparkling tears into her blue eyes.

"Dick, dear," in a quivering voice, "I'm sorry I said that. Won't you forgive me?"

Dick turned and saw one tear steal softly down her pink cheek. He softened instantly.

"Why, Betty child, I'm not angry with you. Don't cry; please don't. I know that I'm a brute." He patted her shoulder comfortingly and Betty was mentally applauding herself. So far, so good.

"Dick, dear," she cooed, "do you really care so much for Cynthia?"

Dick turned to look at her. "Care for her," he echoed. "I almost worship her, Bet. Do you think that she likes me just a little?"

"Sure she does," responded Betty heartily; "but she's got to be shaken awake, and you've got to do it. Now, listen to your grandma. First, make her jealous."

"Oh, no, I won't do that!"

"Oh, yes, you will," asserted Betty. "Just take some girl rowing, or drive her to the links, so Cynthia can see her; then Cynthia will be hopping mad, and—"

"Why, Betty!" were the only words that Dick could speak, so taken by surprise was he.

"She'd see that she wasn't the only pet on the beach, and then—"

"Yes; then she'd drop me altogether," finished Dick, gloomily.

"You just leave it to me. First, get a nice girl—"

"Who'll I get?" Dick wanted to know.

"Olive Davis!"

"Nothing doing. She's too silly."

"Beatrice Daley?"

"Too much of a funeral."

"Well, then, Betty's eyes were cast demurely down, 'How would I do?'"

"You! Why you're only—"

"Eighteen," Betty blurted indignantly.

"Well, of all things! You eighteen, Betty! I can't believe—By Jove, I'll do it!" and Dick doubled up on the sand and laughed heartily.

All that day, he stayed at Betty's side, and the "gallery" set their tongues wagging furiously. The "gallery" was the row of women that sat all day long on the hotel piazza, knitting, gossiping, and watching everything that occurred on the beach.

"The size of her, and her own sister too," the tall, angular "maid" was the one to first voice the thoughts of the girls, but she was by no means the last to speak.

"So brassy about it, too," the little fat lady chimed in, in her little squeaky voice.

Each member passed some remark, and finally it came to the school teacher, who was noted for her judgment in all "love affairs" as it had been reported that she had a great deal of experience along those lines, but poor people would have doubted her word. Her judgment in this special "affair" was:

"Cynthia should be told. It'd be on my conscience if she didn't know of it," and after she had passed judgment, she rose, and hastened within to tell the news, knowing very well it would reach Cynthia within ten minutes.

After that it was easy. Betty listened in silence to her sister's torrent of sarcasm, and, when alone, she smiled broadly at her own cleverness. But the climax was reached when what the "gallery" called the "candy affair" was enacted. It happened this way. Betty was passing on her daily promenade before the "gallery" and was struck with a very brilliant inspiration. Just as she reached the gossipers, she whispered:

"For goodness sake, Dick, act affectionate, quick, so Miss Jones can see you."

Dick rose grandly to the occasion. "Is there anything you would like me to do, dear?" he asked, as ardently as any experienced lover, just loud enough to reach the piazza.

"No-o, only, I'd like a box of Fletcher's 'bun-buns,' and Betty grinned as she heard the unanimous gasp from the "gallery."

Fletcher's came in five-pound boxes, and had to be sent for to New York city.

"Very well, dear, you shall have them."

Another gasp from the "gallery," and Betty congratulated herself. Dick was doing admirably. In due time the candy arrived and Betty settled herself on the lawn in full view of the boarders and fed the candy to her poodle, while the "gallery" gazed in righteous anger.

"This is the limit," said the school teacher, "she not only takes him away from poor, dear Cynthia, but she is brazen enough to be proud over her actions, and show it!"

"Poor, dear Cynthia" was by this time jealous enough, and Betty was almost ready to stop.

"Just one more test," she thought, "and then he's hers." Here a lump came in her throat, and at last she realized the truth. She loved Dick, but she would be loyal to Cynthia, no matter what it cost. Dick was Cynthia's.

Next day there was a carnival and Betty chose this as her final test. Dick and she were standing at the rear of the launch, and she suddenly turned to Dick and said, "Now's your chance with Cynthia. All you have to do is save me," and over she jumped. Before the surprised young man could say a word she was in the water screaming, and between her cries she was sniffling at Dick. He jumped in, of course, but just as he reached her the launch slipped sideways and threw over a loose beam, which struck her on the head. Then she lost consciousness.

When she awoke Betty wondered why her head hurt, and felt so light and airy. She raised a hand and found that the tightness was caused by a bandage. Looking about her it seemed that all the people at the hotel were crowded in the room and staring at her. Everyone was there but Dick. Cynthia was holding her hand and crying. Betty wished that she would stop. If there was anything she detested it was being wept over.

"Oh, Betty, Betty!"

It was Dick's voice, and at the sound the group around the bed began to leave, one at a time. In a few moments the room was empty save for Cynthia, Dick and Betty. Cynthia looked from Betty to Dick, and then she rose.

"Never speak to me again," she snapped, and descended into the hall.

"Oh, Dick," Betty was sobbing. "I'm afraid we've carried it too far. Cynthia said, 'But, dearest, don't you understand? It doesn't matter about Cynthia. It's you.'"

Lonely Dwelling Place.

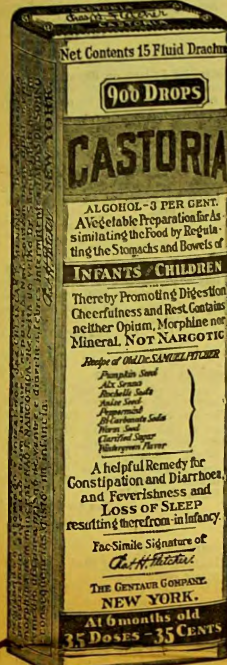

The southernmost permanently inhabited spot in the world is Laurie Island, in the South Orkneys, and its sole inhabitants are the party of meteorologists who maintain a station there for the meteorological service of Argentina. The Argentine government sent out a new staff last February, as usual, on a naval vessel, to relieve the observers, whose term of service in this desolate spot lasts one year. From time to time there has been talk of installing a wireless station at Laurie Island, but still the place is cut off from all communication with the rest of the world—Scientific American.

Honest Advertising.

THIS is a topic we all hear now-a-days because so many people are inclined to exaggerate. Yet has any physician told you that we claimed unreasonable remedial properties for Fletcher's Castoria? Just ask them. We won't answer it ourselves, we know what the answer will be.

That it has all the virtues to-day that was claimed for it in its early days is to be found in its increased use, the recommendation by prominent physicians, and our assurance that its standard will be maintained.

Imitations are to be found in some stores and only because of the Castoria that Mr. Fletcher created. But it is not the genuine Castoria that Mr. Fletcher honestly advertised, honestly placed before the public and from which he honestly expects to receive his reward.

Children Cry For

Extracts from Letters by Grateful Parents to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Mrs. John W. Derrick, of Lexington, S. C., says: "My children cry for Castoria, I could not do without it."

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Gaines, of Ripley, Tenn., say: "We enclose our baby's picture hoping it will induce some poor tired mothers to give your Castoria a trial. We have used it since baby was two weeks old."

Mrs. J. G. Parman, of Nashville, Tenn., says: "The perfect health of my baby is due to your Castoria—the first and only medicine he has taken. He is never satisfied with one dose, he always cries for more."

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Johnson, of Stevens Point, Wis., say: "When our baby was two weeks old he cried so much we did everything for him, then got some Castoria and he is now strong and fat. We would not be without it, and are very thankful to you."

Get New Kidneys!

The kidneys are the most overworked organs of the human body, and when they fail in their work of filtering out and throwing off the poisons developed in the system, things begin to happen.

One of the first warnings is pain or stiffness in the lower part of the back; highly colored urine; loss of appetite; indigestion; irritation, or even stone in the bladder. These symptoms indicate a condition that may lead to that dreaded and fatal malady, Bright's disease, for which there is said to be no cure.

Do not delay a minute. At the first indication of trouble in the kidney, liver, bladder or urinary organs start taking Gold Medal Harelem Oil Capsules, and save yourself before it is too late. Instant treatment is necessary in kidney and bladder troubles. A delay is often fatal.

You can almost certainly find immediate relief in Gold Medal Harelem Oil Capsules. For more than 20 years this famous preparation has been an unfailing remedy for all kidney, bladder and urinary troubles. It is the pure, original Harelem Oil of your great-grandmother's use. About two capsules each day will keep you toned up and feeling fine. Get it at any drug store, and if it does not give you almost immediate relief, your money will be refunded. Be sure you get the GOLD MEDAL brand. None other genuine. In boxes, three sizes—Ad.

Remarkable Sign.
Half way between camp and Prince George Courthouse a sign in a little dump of a grocery and refreshment store invites all beholders not to spit on the floor. It is an ambitious sign of two paragraphs, and the second one says: "If you can't read this sign, have some one else read it for you." The Bayonet.

SHE GOT WHAT SHE WANTED

Young Irish Girl Resourceful When Unaccustomed Word Had Temporarily Slipped Her Memory.

In his amusing book, "Old Irish Life," Mr. L. M. Callwell tells a story of a young peasant woman—Sally Sweeney—who used to walk into Galway twice a week to do shopping for her family.

She could neither read nor write, yet she never made a mistake with any of the messages that were entrusted to her.

Once, however, her memory did fail her. One of the ladies of the family had commissioned her to bring back a yard of satin, and the unaccustomed word had slipped out of Sally's recollection.

She did not allow herself to be beaten, however, and made an effort to recall the word; so she went into the principal shop in Galway still thinking hard.

"What's that ye call the devil?" she asked, "whin it's not devil that ye say to him?"

"Is it Satan you would be meaning?" asked the astonished draper.

Just as Good as Any.

While Reginald Wright Kauffmann, the writer and war correspondent, was in town last week, he spent much of his time in the lobby of the Hotel Severin talking with the guests.

Because he has spent much time on the western battle front the war was the usual topic. When one member of an interested group asked Mr. Kauffmann when the war would end, he replied:

"I shall not answer you like I heard General Foch answer one morning. This was an audacious young chap who had not been in Paris long. One morning he happened this question at the general:

"General Foch, in your opinion, when is this war going to close?"

"I really can't say," the general replied, "I haven't asked my chauffeur this morning!"—Indianapolis News.

WHY SHE COULDN'T SEE HIM

Hubby Didn't Happen Just at the Time to Be in Wife's Line of Vision.

The young lawyer was defending a man accused of burglary, and the woman whose house had been entered was under examination.

"Madame," asked he, "what time of night was it when you saw the prisoner in your room?"

"Close to two o'clock in the morning," came the reply.

"Was there a light in the room?"

"No."

"Could you see your husband at your side?"

"No."

The lawyer frowned impressively and shot a side glance at the jury as he fairly thundered: "Then please, madame, explain how it was you could see the prisoner and yet not see your husband?"

"My husband," was the quiet answer, "was at the club."

Afraid of Rats.

In Providence, R. I., a draftee presented himself with a big black cat in a bag. "I've read about rats in the trenches," he said, "and I'm more afraid of rats than of anything else in the world, so I'm taking my trained rat-catcher cat along to protect me."

"You can't carry a cat overseas with you," said an army officer.

"Well, no cat, no soldier," snapped the draftee.

Mrs. C. E. Willis has been commended for her faithful attendance and work for the Special Aid, not having missed a meeting since its inception. She has contributed of time and money as liberally as possible.

A letter to Mrs. Bosworth, a valued Special Aid worker, is given in another column and shows the good that is done.

A visit to the Damon School which is headquarters for the Special Aid. Branch, brought out the fact that it is a busy place where can be seen the joint work of the Home Village and Nantasket units. It is also the working place of the ladies of the latter unit. Here was seen cute little booties and caps made of gray flannel, the pieces left over from the shirts, finished with bright ribbons or silk, designed for the French refugee children, also the little dresses, made from men's shirts—pretty, and the last word in economy, a sight that delights the heart of an economist like the writer, with whom the utilization of waste is a favorite and practiced hobby. Blankets also are made from the small pieces left over after making the shirts. Well, the war has taught us thrift and economy any day, but we are paying a big price for the utilization of waste in a favorite and practiced hobby. Blankets also are made from the small pieces left over after making the shirts. Well, the war has taught us thrift and economy any day, but we are paying a big price for the utilization of waste in a favorite and practiced hobby.

Little dresses for the Belgian children are being made by the Special Aid Society and also under clothing from the pieces of cotton left after the pillow cases for the wounded are made.

The Surgical Dressing Class at the Damon School was unable to work this week because of lack of material. They were so proficient and rapid that they worked themselves out, but all turned attention to other work.

The recent whist party given by Mrs. H. H. Burr of the Special Aid at the Waverly House was a great success and net nearly $100 for the work. Much credit is due Mrs. Burr, who is always such an energetic and efficient worker in every good cause. The first prize, won by Mr. Crowder of Fitchburg, was a cut glass mayonnaise set. The second prize, won by Miss Casey of Centre Hill, was a cut glass flower dish, the third prize, won by Mrs. H. H. Burr, was a picture frame, the booty, was won by Mr. Casey.

The East Coast Doll was awarded Mr. George Smith of Boston. The guest towels, to Miss Lydia Smith, handkerchief case was given to Miss Cohen, the crib was won by Mrs. Ralph Pease. It was an enjoyable affair.

Miss Annie Parkman of the Annette Cottage has returned to her Brockton home.

During the summer nearly $3000 has been raised by the Special Aid unit of the Home Village and Nantasket units.

Miss Lilla Fay is receiving the congratulations of her friends on the success of her recent Society Circus which is reported in full in another column.

The Sunset Point ladies took a prominent part in the Drive for the 1916 Comfort Fund and covered their district in good shape under the management of Lieutenant Mrs. Benjamin P. Buckley of Dorchester.

The covered was Sagamore Hill, Hampton Hill, Electric Hill, Sunset Point and included the drive at the Apollo Theatre. There were 17 private parties and a George Blakeley of Braintree was the speaker. The names of the Privates are given in the account of the Drive.

Boiled Dinner Day at the Oakland House has become an institution on the South Shore and the observance this year was the best ever. Landlord and Mrs. Burns serve a boiled dinner, done New England style, with a few extras on that day free to all friends and patrons of the house. George the chef, as has been stated before, knows how to cook a boiled dinner such as our grandmothers used to serve; it has a genuine New England flavor. Perhaps the writer's satisfaction in being well fed made the music and better, but it seemed as if the famous orchestra never played better than on that recent memorable evening.

"Boiled Dinner Day" the famous annual event at the Oakland House which took place on Thursday at that celebrated house, will be written up in full next week.

SOCIETY CIRCUS

Miss Lilla Fay of Hampton Circle recently gave a very successful Society Circus in aid of the Special Aid at her summer home. The grounds were decorated and illuminated by myriads of Japanese lanterns and the entertainment was pretty and artistic. The costumes were pretty and the famous characters represented were many and varied, among the most notable was the fortune teller, clever and mystical, represented by Mrs. Mary Hawkins. Mrs. H. H. Burr, as a tarantula, made a hit and sold vegetables by the score; the Yama Yama girls sold ice cream cones and were delightfully successful. Mrs. Murray as Mother Goose, with Nettie Davis as her son, presided over the Gristle, Little Marion Sheldon as "Daddy Bump" and Louis Large as "Pop Biding Horse" found each other attractive and the audience went wild over both. Mrs. Charles White made an excellent gypsy. Miss Mildred Welton had a very handsome costume. Mrs. John E. Cannon represented Special Aid and was most appropriately garbed and was accompanied by a group of girls in costume representing the Surgical Dressing Class.

The S. A. S. A. P. Miss May Wick was there as "Boy Blue," Mrs. H. H. Goodwin as a Spanish Lady and Miss La Long and Mrs. Mildred Cole were audaciously robed as Japanese ladies. Mr. Francis Hanley loaned his limousine which was decorated as the box of a highly successful manner and Mrs. Nelson Armstrong and Mr. Edward Anderson sold tickets. The entertainment consisted of readings by Miss Roemer and by the children of Nantasket. A play at Miss Roemer's entertainment and repeated by request because of their merit. Miss Helen McCarthy was the hostess and Mr. Oswald Beaudin assisted every one with his solos. Young ladies' orchestra consisting of the Misses Hannigan and Pearl Fourin, played for the dancing. Miss Fay assisted by her sister Mrs. E. J. Talley.

ENTERTAINMENT AT ALLERTON GABLES

The closing season witnessed a very brilliant entertainment and dance at the Allerton Gables which the guests and proprietor planned and executed last week. The large living room was cleared of furniture and an excellent orchestra headed by Mr. Joseph H. Sannicci, one of Boston's prominent lawyers was master of ceremonies and kept things humming along from start to finish. The large living room, hung in patriotic colors and flags, made an ideal ballroom. Several guests contributed solos and duets both instrumental and vocal and there were readings by several. Ice cream and cake were served.

SOLDIER'S LETTER

American Air Service Base, Somewhere in England.

Dear "Aunt Betty":
Just a few lines to let you know of my safe arrival here early in July. Am at present located at an American camp awaiting assignment to an aero squadron. My training being completed at Kelly Field, Texas, places me on the active units operating in France. Am very much pleased to know I will soon be transferred to the advanced zone. Martin B. Murray (Red) is in the same camp as I am, but not in the same company. We both came over on the same ship and enjoyed the voyage very much, and see each other daily. I have seen Hull, England, and the name and place reminded me of our own little town. Both Red and I are enjoying the very best of health and send our very best wishes to our many friends throughout the service. I am, very truly, yours,
Private John A. Robinson
Address: 154th Aero Squadron, American Expeditionary Force, London, England.

The perfect weather of Labor Day brought joy to the hearts of the pleasure seekers and the beaches were thronged with a happy crowd.

Schools began in Marshfield Tuesday with almost an entirely new force of teachers. Both High and Grammar schools have women principals, Mrs. Tyron of New Britain, Conn., being Principal of the High School, Miss Fitzgerald, assistant. Miss Feinberg, principal of our Grammar school.

The spirit shown by our people in complying with the request of the government to help save gasoline was a fine illustration of American patriotism. There were a few slackers but the great majority of the people cheerfully responded to the request.

One amusing example was seen at Brant Rock. The owner, Barney Williamson, halted an undertaker's auto, telling the driver that there was no one dead in Brant Rock, and that he had no business there. When the doors of the auto were opened three young men and a dog were found enjoying (?) a ride in an undertaker's wagon before their time.

Several of last year's pupils have not returned to school having obtained positions in Boston.

Demman Baker will enter Dean Academy at Franklin.

The annual meeting of the Marshfield W. C. T. U. will be held in the Church Friday afternoon, Sept. 13. Every member is urged to be present. 2 Plymouth Co. W. C. T. U. Convention, will meet in Hingham Sept. 17.

Mrs. Howland who met such favor when she spoke in Ventress Hall, will be one of the speakers at the convention. Hingham being so easily reached from our section we hope for a large representation from our Unions.

Mr. Lindley Collins has begun work on his new barn. John Baker has the contract.

HINGHAM HAPPENINGS.

Rev. F. M. McKibben and family leave Hingham for East Milton, where they are to reside.

Mr. James Ryan of South Street is spending a few days visiting his brother and niece in Worcester.

Mrs. George A. Cole of Hingham was the lucky person to draw the Ford touring car given by Thomas W. Lawrence at the Marshfield Fair.

Dorothy Bradford Chapter No. 135, O. E. S., commence work for the fall and Wednesday evening the first regular meeting of the fall term was called.

Lester M. Lane has been visiting his parents at Hingham Centre, and has recently received a commission as second lieutenant at the officers' training school at Camp Lee, Virginia.

Mrs. Nat. Emmons has plans started for an advertising ball to be held Friday, Sept. 27th. Each participant will dress as some advertised product. The same orchestra will furnish the music as was at the garden party.

Mr. James Bullett, rector of Saint John's Episcopal Church, is planning an outing for the choir, to go over the road by auto to Plymouth, returning in the forenoon.

Eric Lincoln has returned home from a vacation at his father's farm in Maine.

OUR COHASSET CORRESPONDENT
Mrs. Julia Trout Bates, our esteemed Cohasset correspondent, is not yet sufficiently recovered from the strain incident to the illness and death of her mother, Mrs. Trout, to send in news items. In addition to her other troubles, her uncle is now very ill and she is his nurse. Will those who have items of interest please help Mrs. Bates by sending them in to her. She deserves the co-operation of all.

THINK OF IT
The Observant Citizen in the Boston Post says:
"Half a teaspoonful too much sugar in every cup of coffee in the United States in one day means a waste of 1,000,000 pounds on that day," says Miss Lucy C. King, a home demonstration agent. As Kipling says:
"It ain't the individuals,
Nor the army as a whole,
But the co-ordinating teamwork
Of every blooming individual."
The O. C. has put a startling fact before us.

Nothing Impossible.

WHAT CAN WE + DO?

The war is bringing in the good, old-fashioned practice of thrifty art, among them the making of patchwork quilts. Women who have the time are collecting the samples of woolen cloth which tailors for men and women keep to submit to their patrons and to order goods from. The samples—called "swatches"—are sometimes quite large—something like eight inches long and four inches wide, making a good-sized block. They are usually tipped in an album or have small tickets pasted on the back of the goods, and at the end of each season are no longer of any use to the tailor, for cloth manufacturers supply him with new samples for the next season.

The swatches, being of uniform size, can be easily pieced together into little quilts for the use of French and Belgian refugee children. They are to be lined with soft cotton flannel, which adds to their warmth and makes them comfortable to the touch, and finished with a braid binding or any other method of quick and durable finishing. They are about as large as a large baby blanket, but the size is a thing to use one's own judgment about. Fuel is scarce in France and these cozy little quilts will help keep many an unfortunate little victim of the war comfortably warm during the coming winter. Besides this is another step in the conservation of wool and in the practice of thrift which is a habit Americans need to acquire.

Among Separate Skirts

When manufacturers began casting about for other fabrics than wool for new models in separate skirts, they experimented with many varieties of silks. Soft satins, tricolet and silk poplin were among them. Probably the last, the old, familiar silk poplin, in weaves showing satin stripes and cross bars, is destined to as much success as any other. We can wear it with a clear conscience—it is not among the things needed for the army—and at the rate that wool is going we will have to look to silk to reduce the high cost of dressing.

Nearly all skirts are moderate in width and gathered or shirred to the waist. In the striped silks the stripes are old style made so that they run around the figure, horizontally, or are vertical. In girdles, made of the same silk as the skirt, one may choose between wide or narrow ones and have them with or without sash ends. Very wide, crushed girdles have many admirers and many skirts have wide pockets—especially among the fancy plaids and wide striped models in sport skirts.

There are some lovely skirts in soft black satin. Some of them are made with long, loose side panels ending in wide black silk fringe at the bottom. Others have panels at the back and front finished with wide fringe, with three-tier tunics at the side that make them with or without sash ends. Very soft girdles are chosen for these skirts.

The model pictured is made of dark gray silk poplin, with satin stripes that run horizontally. The odd pointed pockets are made separately and are suspended from the crushed girdle in which the stripes run vertically, as they do in the pockets. In plaid materials there is often a short, plain yoke, cut on the bias, that fits smoothly about the hips, and the skirt is shirred to this. A sash may be added finished at the left side with a loop and pointed end of the silk.

Julia Bottomley

Golf Smocks "Handkerchief" Style.
The newest and neatest golf blouses—or smocks, as they are called—are finished in handkerchief style; that is, with hemstitched hems. Pointed, turned back cuffs and deep square collars have rather deep hems, the hemstitching crossing at the corners. Pointed pocket flaps have similar hems and hemstitching. The belt is hemstitched along both edges, the bottom of the smock is hemstitched, and for good measure, three lines of hemstitching, crossing each other at the corners, outline a bolero device on either side of the front, above the belt.

Draperies of Mohair.

A new mohair curtain material for either summer or winter use is both good looking and practical in character. The mohair weave of cotton and silky angora sheds the dust as no other drapery weave does, and the fabric is not affected by dampness or night air and never becomes limp and stringy, as many other summer curtain materials do. These new mohair draperies are in printed effects and have a rich colored, translucent suggestion of stained glass. They are admirable for the living room, library or dining room. The material is excellent, also, because of its dust-shedding qualities, for table runners and cushions to be used on the porch.

A Model of Alpaca.

A smart model of black alpaca was made on Russian lines, the pelum extending almost to the skirt hem. The sides of the pelum were slit almost to the waistline and were faced with white cloth. There was a white collar and the bodice opened to the waistline to show a vest of white cloth.

Beads to Suit Mood.

One fashionable woman who confesses her susceptibility to color admits that she must have a string of beads to suit her mood of the day. She makes it a point to have all of her Eowms developed in some dark or neutral shade, and she has made herself the proud possessor of myriads of strings of beads in colors and tones to suit the strangest and most changeable of moods. She has adopted beads as the insignia of her own personality, and the pleasure that she gets from the wearing of them is quite evident when you meet her.

Capes Are Picturesque.

One of the most picturesque of the capes for midsummer wear is one fashioned from blue cloth and trimmed around its edge with a single line of yellow braid.

For Afternoon Gown.

Handkerchief lined and sports silk combined make a charming afternoon gown.

WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Need Help to Pass the Crisis Safely—Proof that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Can be Relied Upon.

Urbana, Ill.—"During Change of Life," in addition to its annoying symptoms, I had an attack of grippe which lasted all winter and left me in a weakened condition. I felt at times that I would never be well again. I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it did for women passing through the Change of Life, so I told my doctor I would try it. I soon began to gain in strength and the annoying symptoms disappeared and your Vegetable Compound has made me a well, strong woman so I do all my own housework. I cannot recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound too highly to women passing through the Change of Life."

—Mrs. FRANK HENSON, 1316 S. Orchard St., Urbana, Ill.

Women who suffer from nervousness, "heat flashes," backache, headache and "the blues" should try this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

JUDGE DECIDES STOMACH REMEDY A GREAT SUCCESS

Commissioner of Mediation and Conciliation Board Tries EATONIC, the Wonderful Stomach Remedy, and Endorses It.

Judge William L. Chambers, who uses EATONIC as a remedy for loss of appetite and indigestion, is a Commissioner of the U. S. Board of Mediation and Conciliation. It is natural for him to express himself in guarded language, yet there is no hesitation in his pronouncement regarding the value of EATONIC. Writing from Washington, D. C. to the Eaton-Kidney Co., he says:

"EATONIC promotes appetite and aids digestion. I have used it with beneficial results."

Office workers and others who sit much are liable to dyspepsia, belching, flatulency, heartburn, poor appetite, constipation and general nervousness. If you suffer as EATONIC will relieve you just as surely as it has benefited Judge Chambers and thousands of others.

Here's the secret: EATONIC drives the gas out of the body and the blood goes with it. It is guaranteed to bring relief or you get your money back! Come day after tomorrow use it. Get a box today from your druggist.

He Hates the Sea.

Capt. Joseph C. Cowell of the Branford, who has been submarine three times, said at a dinner in Salem: "I used to love the sea, but the squallheads with their filthy submarines have made me hate it. When this war is over and the squallheads are beaten, do you know what I'm going to do? Well, gentlemen, I'm going to buy an anchor, sling it on my shoulder, and start walking straight inland."

"I'll walk and walk, and finally, when I come to a place where the natives hold me up and say, 'What an earth is that you're carrying?' I'm going to buy a firm in that place and settle down for life."

Self-Abnegation.

There had been a fire in a big block of flats with heavy loss of property and many narrow escapes.

"Were there any acts of conspicuous heroism?" queried the reporter.

"Yes," said one of the victims. "With a self-abnegation never before witnessed in a case of this kind, sir, we all turned in and helped to carry out the piano that was on the second floor."

Keep Yourself Fit

You can't afford to be laid up with sore, aching kidneys in these days of high prices. Some occupations bring kidney troubles; almost any work makes weak kidneys worse. If you feel tired all the time, and suffer with lame back, sharp pains, dizzy spells, headaches and disordered kidney action, use Doan's Kidney Pills. It may save an attack of rheumatism, dropsy, or Bright's disease. Doan's have helped thousands back to health.

A Massachusetts Case

W. H. Gibbs, 181 Tremont St., Roxbury, Mass., says: "I was in bad shape from disordered kidneys. Morning I was stiff and lame and found it hard to do my work. The least exertion started my back aching. I got nervous and had to get up at night to pass the water. I don't say a word about Doan's Kidney Pills, but I am glad to say that the good results have lasted."

Chaplain Would Exterminate Foe

Baltimore, Md.—Rev. George A. Griffin, a Baltimore Protestant Episcopal clergyman serving as chaplain with the Fifth field artillery, the regiment that fired America's first shot in the war, has written a letter to Dr. Henry Barton Jacobs, a prominent Baltimorean, which was printed in full in the current issue of the Manufacturers' Record, in which he discusses at length cruelties inflicted by the Germans upon civilians and soldiers.

"I feel," he says, "that I express the sentiment of those who have seen and heard over here, when I say that were I in America today, priest as I am, I should do my best to have put to death any Boche in America or any so-called American who would apologize in any way for what the Boche has done."

"All that you have heard in America about them does not approximate the truth. There are little children right here in France with their little stumps of hands; there were some not far from my last camp, and young men with all the fingers of their right hand cut off. The other day a British officer and three Tommies told me that a short time ago they went as an advance party into a little village from which the Boche had been driven back, and in a large room there were four young Canadians crucified, one on each wall of the room."

Torture Young Girls.

"Also, when I was with the British they told me the Boche had taken young Belgian and French girls into their first line trenches and tortured them until their screams made the Scotch and the Canadians so crazed they would go over into the machine gun nests which the Boche had set up, using the women's screams as a decoy."

"And I have it on the word of a British officer that they have stood (the officers) with guns leveled at their nates to keep them from going over when the women scream, and being needlessly slaughtered. I cannot tell you what the Tommies told me they found when they drove these hell-fiends out of these positions; it is too awful even to think about. I also have it on the word of one of the greatest French abbots that the Boche were especially instructed to destroy convents—and kill or outrage the nuns—and he says that all through France and Belgium are ruined convents, and that the nuns were given to the soldiers to be outraged in camps."

"These are not isolated cases nor abnormal conditions which prevail here and there where troops were drunk or without restraint. Go along the French or British front, and the only conclusion you arrive at is that they are just the ground principle of Boche efficiency in action."

"It is American blood that is flowing now, and God grant it may give America some strength to realize what we are up against. To talk of terms until the Boche is exterminated is to league with Satan for a corner in hell. Privations, sacrifices! What can you do at home to compare with what these men of ours are doing over here? Meatless days, wheatless days, sugarless days, good women knitting, benefits for the Red Cross—or all your social diversions with a charitable object sanctified in!"

"When you are out on a shell-swept hill and the shells are going by like bats out of hell, as the soldiers say, and it's dark as the grave, and every man, God bless him! stands strong and true, camouflaging all his own feelings for your sake and for the sake of what he has back home, meatless days and wheatless days, and Liberty bond campaigns seem cheap as your support of him in such an hour."

"Loathe the Boche—preach against him—work against him, wherever he is, ostracize him socially and commercially. Take no chance—even though his reputation for loyalty has been a long-standing one. The leopard cannot change his spots—neither can the Boche demon lose his horns. I'm begging you now—as the Boche are trying to murder us—to help wake every one up to the fact that America must realize what the world is facing over here. Can't you see it—can't America see it—how everything is hanging in the balance? And I know that the weight which shall cast it down is when your loathing for the Boche will so burn in you as to make you count nothing—consider nothing—but his extermination."

and it's dark as the grave, and every man, God bless him! stands strong and true, camouflaging all his own feelings for your sake and for the sake of what he has back home, meatless days and wheatless days, and Liberty bond campaigns seem cheap as your support of him in such an hour."

"Loathe the Boche—preach against him—work against him, wherever he is, ostracize him socially and commercially. Take no chance—even though his reputation for loyalty has been a long-standing one. The leopard cannot change his spots—neither can the Boche demon lose his horns. I'm begging you now—as the Boche are trying to murder us—to help wake every one up to the fact that America must realize what the world is facing over here. Can't you see it—can't America see it—how everything is hanging in the balance? And I know that the weight which shall cast it down is when your loathing for the Boche will so burn in you as to make you count nothing—consider nothing—but his extermination."

Wears Gas Mask Over Cook Stove

By ROY S. DURSTINE.

Paris.—Some day the story of what American women have done over here in France will be written. People will hear, then, about the women who are cooking and baking for the American boys with their helmets and gas masks on the shelf, next the baking powder can. They will learn of the casual heroines who see nothing remarkable in making hot chocolate in shacks where the rain and the snow come in on them through fresh shell holes in the roof.

One of the women people will hear about will be Mrs. Clara Simmons.

She is as close to the front line here as any woman is permitted to go. For many days, during the active fighting just over the hill from her, she was the only woman in the entire area. That didn't bother her at all. The boys wanted hot chocolate, and she could make it. So there you are. And there she was!

She is a little bit of America, of American womanhood, dropped right down in the middle of the fighting zone. She looks more like home to the boys than anything in the world, except a letter. She has no picturesque ideas about carrying culture and uplift to the soldiers. She's there to work for them.

She works with a huge mixing bowl full of pulverized chocolate, and seven or eight open cans of condensed milk on the table. On the rickety stove where the old fireplace used to be, a great kettle of hot water is simmering. She stirs and pours, and pours and stirs, till the air of the little shack is as fragrant as that of a candy store at home.

A convoy of camions rumbles past her door. They are almost at the end of their journey. German territory isn't half a dozen kilometers away. Mrs. Simmons knows that, of course,

CANADIANS MOVING TO THE FRONT LINE

Column of Canadian soldiers moving briskly up to the fighting line to take their turn in swatting the Huns.

CHAIN HUNS TO GUNS

They Don't Like the Marine Brand of Fighting.

"Devil Dog" Tells in Letter Home of Some Wonderful Cases of Gameness.

Chicago.—Word has been received from Dana B. Thrasher, with the Sixth regiment of the United States Marines, telling of the fighting on the west front in France, in which his regiment took part. The young marine expresses deep admiration for his fellow fighters and advises a blow in the nose for the man who calls the Y. M. C. A. men snickers.

"I have seen some wonderful cases of gameness. We were going in one day when the 'Germ' was shelling. An American fell down on top of us with both legs shot off. All he said was: 'I'm sorry to bother you guys.' Can you beat it?"

"One day we were lying in support and were pretty tired, for we had been in for a good many days. Our lieutenants came back from headquarters and passed the word that for the last three days the newspapers in France, England and the States were full of nothing but the United States Marines. We were so glad to hear that we felt like rising and strolling into Berlin."

"I suppose you are reading about the marines' successes and telling everybody, 'I told you so.' I do not like to brag, so I will only say that there may be better fighting men in the world, but up to date no one has ever heard of them. We have been through some hard fighting lately. After the first four days the 'Germ' had to chain his men to the guns. "Get off your but to the Y. M. C. A. If anyone tells you they are snickers, hit him right on the nose. They were up on the line with stretchers and snakes."

FLIP OF COIN LEADS TO DEATH OVER THERE

Wheeling, W. Va.—Edward F. Bowman, nineteen, is dead in France as the result of a flip of a coin. Bowman enlisted in the army in May, 1917, after he and a friend had tossed a nickel to determine which one would enter the service. Bowman called the turn and was a soldier a few days later.

City Adopts War Orphan.

Carbondale, Ill.—The city of Carbondale has adopted a French war orphan. It will be provided for from city funds. It is believed to be the first adoption of its kind in Illinois.

HULLONIANS' HAPPY HOURS

Mrs. W. T. Ettinger has received a letter from Horace telling of his safe arrival somewhere in France and stating that the passage was full of incidents but pleasant. We are all glad "Horrie" has arrived safely. We expect to print his interesting letter next week.

Miss Marie Fitzpatrick announces that the Hull boys of the 101st, for whom she gave the benefit dance in May, have received their packages of cigarettes and candy O. K. through the Filene System. She has received cards and letters thanking her from Jack Knowles, Tom Olsen, and Willie Pitts. Mrs. A. S. Albee of Quincy has taken up her residence at Allerton for the Winter.

Miss Vivian Mitchell has returned from her vacation trip to the Great Lakes and has entered her name for training as a nurse in the government service.

It is said that the boys at Bumpkin Island are quarantined because of an epidemic of Spanish influenza.

Mrs. Ayer, wife of Lieut. Ayer is in receipt of a letter from her brother, Thomas Olsen, with the 101st in France, telling her of the kindness of Mr. C. F. Bacon of Chandler Company, who has shown his interest in Thomas, whom he has always known, by sending him a gift of money. Such kindly acts make the boys fight with more vigor. The man at the front and the man behind are both necessary to make the ideal American.

It is a pleasant thing to record kind deeds. If you know a kind deed tell us about it—let the good be reported. We need the uplift that is the reflex of good deeds.

On Wednesday evening for the Hull on Wednesday evening for the Hull boys of the 101st. Keep up the good work.

Mrs. A. E. Crooker of the Neediercraft, who has endeared herself to many by her kindly ways will remain during the month of September. Her son, Curtice C. Crooker, has recently gone to Camp Syracuse, N. Y., with 2,000 more boys for training.

Mr. and Mrs. James Curley, who have been sojourning at the Allerton Chambers in an attractive apartment, will remain for the late season as usual. They have summered here for several years.

Mrs. Morris Cohen received a most patriotic letter from her son, previous to his departure for France. A card has since been received announcing his safe arrival. When Mr. and Mrs. Cohen received word via long distance phone that their son would soon sail, they rushed to New York to see him off, but were unable to see him. Mrs. Cohen is an enthusiastic worker in the Red Cross and goes to Boston every week to attend the meeting of her chapter. By the way, she is a wonderful cook, withal. If you don't believe it ask "Morrie" and me, we have inside information (litera, trace).

The Misses Helen and Dorothy Antone are spending their vacation at a farm house about 6 miles from East Jaffrey, N. H., where they were conveyed by their parents by auto and most pleasantly situated. Helen is convalescing after a recent severe operation successfully performed at Sylvester Hospital. She will remain for a month. Dorothy will return next week to enter Simmons College. It is said that on Tuesday of this week "venturesome Dot" made an attempt to climb the mountain.

Mrs. Walter Harmon has received a letter from her husband, who is now cook in the U. S. Army, that the ship had arrived in London waters and that he was well. He is now somewhere in France.

Showing the splendid spirit of our girls, no less than our boys, we report that Miss Rosamond Powers has taken out a chauffeur's license so that she can drive for the Red Cross and she is waiting for the call.

While waiting to see Mrs. Bowen Tufts the writer and Mrs. Lyon were entertained by Bowen, Jr. He was busily engaged in playing on the lawn and in reply to a question, "what are you playing," said, "This is a sugar factory and I am making sugar." When asked, "What are you going to do with the sugar?" he replied, "I'm going to give it to Uncle Sam." That is the spirit of young, young America!

Mrs. Bowen Tufts has been busy taking out the returned wounded soldiers in her car, driving for the Metropolitan Chapter of the Red Cross, with which she enlisted early in the war for service as a driver. Sixty of the wounded were invited to attend the ball game on Monday and Mrs. Tufts drove some of them. She speaks of their splendid spirit of cheerfulness and while some of the boys are physical wrecks they all seem glad to have been of service to humanity and their country. The boys had a wonderful time at the ball game. Mrs. Tufts spoke of the appreciation the boys show of anything done for them.

School begins on Wednesday. A visit to the Hull Village Library, where one of the rooms is given over to Red Cross work, revealed the fact that the Surgical Dressing Class, under the direction of Miss Adelaide Pearson, assisted by Miss Eva Galliano and some willing junior and senior workers, is doing excellent work. In fact, all the Special Aid activities are receiving good support from the people of Hull Village.

Francis Seeler Winn came last week to gladden the hearts of her parents, Secretary and Mrs. Robert Winn of Allerton.

In a recent issue of this paper mention was made of a beautiful estate in Cohasset, formerly owned by Dr. Osgood, and now being improved and beautified by Mrs. Arthur Watson of Pemberton, but inadvertently it was written Fred Watson instead of Arthur. "Chub" Grimes and "Joe" Bass left Sept. 3rd for a vacation trip to New York, Hudson River, Albany, Washington, Philadelphia and thence home. It is said that they had the time lives and learned much about the country and conditions. Get your sugar card for preserving sugar from Mr. J. R. Wheeler, Hull, but get your sugar from your grocer.

Miss Elizabeth O'Connell of Kennerma gave a very successful benefit dance at the Hull Yacht Club for the 101st Inf. Comfort Fund.

Little Elizabeth Cleverly has a wonderful memory and is well trained in her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Merton Cleverly, in recitation. She recently delighted the writer by reciting some cute little gems of poetry for her, and Elizabeth is also some singer, singing the popular war songs.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cullinan have started in housekeeping.

Douglas Ross has been promoted to Sergeant.

Miss Dorothy Learned has recently departed on a motor trip through Connecticut.

The Surgical Dressing Class which has been held all summer at Bella Vista the home of Mrs. J. W. Wilbur on Allerton Hill has completed its work for the summer and has a notable record, 12,100 dressings with 2,000 by the children being the number. A contribution was taken at each meeting and it is estimated that a generous sum was collected.

Mrs. Partridge and Mrs. Smith have charge of the funds. Mrs. Wilbur is kind to every one and delights in giving her house for war work.

Miss Rosamond and Ruth Powers of Allerton Hill have recently returned from Weir, N. H. Peggy their Blue Ribbon dog has just recovered from pneumonia. "Bobby" spends his winters as the guest of Mrs. Spearwater.

Mrs. Wilbur has just received a letter from her nephew, Frank Prickett of 101st Engineer Corps, Co. A, who has been transferred to the Camouflage department because of his talent as an artist. In his letter he writes: "I have been at the front six months, Gosh." What a world of things are expressed in "Gosh." You can see shot and shell, wounded and dying, brave deeds, heroic sacrifice, earth flying, blood flowing, and all sorts of things. Ordinarily it is a common word, used at the battle front as it was by our brave young friend it is full of meaning. There was so much to write that Mr. Prickett could not write it all.

Mrs. Wilbur has suffered the loss of another nephew killed in action at the front.

Mrs. John Irwin receives many compliments on the beautiful display of flags at her residence on Main street.

RED CROSS CONCERT AND DANCE

A concert and dance for Red Cross and charitable work was given by the ladies of Kennerma at the Kennerma Danst on Friday evening, August 30, which proved an artistic and financial success.

The committee in charge were Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Souther, Mrs. Cohen, Mrs. Z. Samuels, Mrs. Mary Cohen, Mrs. Louis Chester, Mrs. John Grady, Mrs. Emil Leevis, Miss Freeman, who is studying for Grand Opera, opened the concert by leading all in singing the Star-Spangled Banner, after which the following program was given to the delight of all:

Piano selection, Miss Freeman; solo, "Lorraine," little Miss Eleanor McCarthy; reading, "Benedict Arnold," little Miss Rene Chester, dressed in patriotic costume; duet, "Smiles," Miss Ida Cohen, Mr. Jack Cohen; dance Columbia, Bunny Reardon; solo, "Baby's Prayer at Twilight," Mrs. Gale; cornet solo, "Perfect Day," Ellery Bates, accompanied by Mr. Wm. Cogill; recitation, "Life is a Funny Proposition After All," Mr. Sulkis; trio, violin, cello and piano, "Coronation March" and Anitra's Dance by Ida, Elizabeth and Emanuel Rubin. The last number a solo by Miss Cohen, "a rag-time selection," in which she was accompanied by Miss Freeman and Jack Cohen, was the hit of the evening. It was delightfully funny and original and to be appreciated should be seen. All are enthusiastic about it. Mr. Samuels rendered splendid aid by selling a large number of tickets. His co-workers are loud in praise of his energy and success. It was the event of the Kennerma season.

RAPID WORK AT SCITUATE

A Hingham man employed on the government proving grounds, Scituate, tells of an extraordinary day's work at that plant one day recently. Word had been received that a company of soldiers were to arrive shortly, and a rush order for a 40x150 barracks was passed along the line. Two hundred carpenters were put on the construction work at 7 in the morning and at 10 o'clock that evening there stood erected a complete barracks, even to screens on the windows and doors.

Average Accidents.

Women are always the first to be called upon wherever and whenever an accident occurs. The average man is indeed, only too glad to do what he can, but he doesn't know what to do. Nine times out of ten the only help he can render is to rush to a telephone and call a doctor or ambulance to the scene, and he certainly deserves the highest praise for such commendable work, but the average woman has it in her to help materially at such a time.

Sugar From Palms. Sugar is extracted from 10 varieties of palms that grow in Ceylon.

What is a Branch House?

The Branch House is the place in the packing organization where what the packing plant does for you is put where you can use it.

Both are the natural result of growth and development in the living thing they belong to.

Swift & Company Branch Houses are located in distributing centers all over the country. They are fitted out with refrigerating equipment to keep meat cool, sweet and fresh.

Each one is in personal charge of a man who believes in what Swift & Company is doing for people and wants to help to do it.

They are directed by men who have spent years learning how to get better meat cheaper to the places where it is needed.

Meat is shipped to the branch houses direct from the packing plants in Swift & Company's refrigerator cars, in such quantities that it can be disposed of while fresh and sweet.

Your meat dealer comes here to buy your meat for you—unless someone else can treat him better than we can.

So you need the branch house in order to live well; and the branch house and the packing plant need each other, in order to be useful to you.

SERVICE CLUB AT ALLERTON

The menu at the Service Club at Allerton on Sunday consisted of roast lamb, boiled potatoes, summer squash, cucumbers, corn, bread and butter, ice cream. The Allerton ladies were in charge on Saturday and Hingham ladies on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Foster were present. Miss James, Miss Fowler, Mrs. Frank Learned, Mrs. Prouty, Mrs. Billings, Mrs. Bicknell. Early in the season the Hingham Special Aid presented a flag, but as the flag pole was struck by lightning, the colors have been hung in the reception room and make a pretty back ground for the boys in uniform. On Sunday all seemed to be having an enjoyable time, and among the men in service present were aviators, sailors, soldiers. The young ladies present with their chaperones seemed to know just the pleasant healthy forms of amusement to afford the boys. The fires in the large fireplaces in reception and recreation rooms gave a cheery look and warmth to all. The committee in charge certainly desire credit and should feel repaid for their efforts. The ladies from the different towns have worked hard to make it a success. The Community Service Club were fortunate in securing Mr. O'Brien and all are lonesome now that he has had to return to his duties as teacher. It can be truthfully said that the Summer activities have been a success. It is thought that the house will soon close for the season and in the meantime, Mr. Badger is at the Club much of the time. The boys seem to enjoy the motherly and sisterly atmosphere given by the presence of so many nice ladies, young and old. Miss Mary James has been an ideal big sister all through the season and many of the boys have testified to the writer of the help and encouragement and "little cats" she has given this summer. Too much cannot be said in praise of the ladies, so say the boys.

Hope's Limitations.

Hope is a buoy but like any other buoy it only floats; it can't be steered anywhere.—Charles Dickens in "Domby and Son."

Why "Drug Store?"

Why do they call the modern institution a drug store? Merely because it doesn't carry a line of shoes, sidemast and harness.—Houston Post.
